SOCIAL OPPOSITION

Acting on behalf of United for Freedom LTD on the basis of the power of attorney granted, which we present in the attachment and on behalf of the Citizens of the Republic of Poland, we hereby submit a social objection as follows:

We, the Polish nation, acting in accordance with Art. 63 of the Constitution of the Republic of Poland, we submit a social objection pursuant to Art. 19 of the Vienna Convention on the Law of Treaties of May 23, 1969 (Journal of Laws of 1990, No. 74, item 439) to the international treaty on the prevention and preparation for a pandemic, being negotiated.

On 20 May 2021 the Council of UE accepted the decision in which it approves of the start of negotiations within the World Health Organisation over an international treaty on pandemic. The Council decision is to guarantee UE participation in negotiations concerning issues, which are subject to UE competences and in further perspective – possible accession of the UE to an international instrument.

According to the Council of UE, the Treaty would support international efforts to increase world health safety – especially in the context of preparedness and response to health crises – on the basis of conclusions drawn after the pandemic.

On 1 December 2021, 194 members of the World Health Organisation (WHO) reached consensus to start the process of preparing and negotiating a convention, agreement or other international instrument under the Constitution of the World Health Organisation to increase pandemic prevention, readiness and responsiveness.

Among the greatest benefits a better observation of pandemic threats was mentioned i.e.: monitoring the risk, particularly sharing the knowledge about new contagious diseases transferred from animals to people. The promoters of the treaty say that the above targets can be reached by:

1. an increase of laboratory capability and observation necessary to identify animal diseases in all countries,
2. strengthening the cooperation among research centres all over the world,
3. the improvement of international finance coordination for core capabilities.
4. the introduction of a more efficient alert system on more alert levels proportionate to health threat degree,

According to WHO, the above rules would increase transparency and relevance of restrictions and other means of health protection. Digital technologies and innovative tools for data collection and sharing as well as predictive analytics may simplify communication in real time and early warning, which would then trigger a more rapid response.

5. Strengthening and improvement of global supply chains and medical services in order to eliminate health threats. Each country should have uninterrupted access to medical supplies, medicines and equipment from all the world.
6. Global coordination of efficient gathering of supplies in order to quickly and effectively react to a pandemic.
7. Forming a basis for better communication and information of citizens, as well as facilitating efficient instruments fighting disinformation with regard to pandemic in the whole world.

According to the Council of UE Notice Guidance, each member state of WHO decided that because of COVID-19 pandemic and difficulties with implementing mutual solutions which were to prevent its development, there will be activities undertaken in order to prepare one common way of action (instrument), to successfully prevent subsequent pandemics.

It should be noted, that the main source of information about the potential risk of pandemic is WHO and Bill Gates, who is currently a dominant sponsor of the institution in question. On 1 March 2022, the first meeting of intergovernmental negotiating body will be held in Geneva (in order to agree on ways of working and timelines). The second meeting will be held before 1 August 2022 (in order to discuss progress over the draft). It will be followed by the report on the negotiations at 76th World Health Assembly in 2023, and the above-mentioned document is to be passed by 2024 at the latest.

WHO claims the COVID-19 pandemic was a global challenge and no government or institution is able to independently manage the threat of future pandemics, and that is why it is so important to work out one effective instrument in the form of convention, agreement or another international instrument, which will be binding under international law for each member state of WHO as far as uniform anti-pandemic solutions are concerned. The above, in turn will make it possible for the countries all over the world to strengthen state, regional and global solutions in order to prevent future pandemics. WHO insists such solutions will allow stable and long-term implementation of health issues integration rules in all suitable political areas, political involvement on the level of state leaders or governments. It will also let them support integration as far as public and private sectors' actions on all levels are concerned and will result in working out a uniform attitude towards health on the whole planet.

It should be pointed out, that the real aims of the considered initiative are:

1. forming a uniform model of solutions, which signatory states of such instrument will be obliged to apply in case of announcing subsequent pandemics by WHO,
2. acknowledging superior and binding role of WHO when implementing precise solutions to fight epidemic of contagious diseases,
3. granting WHO the right to issue binding decisions for the member-states, under which each country will be obliged to apply a specific strategy in the fight with a potential risk of disease,
4. depriving the member states of substantial component of sovereignty,
5. depriving the member states of full control over financial affairs in connection with fighting a pandemic,
6. introduction of sanctions for violation of WHO pandemic narrative and the model of fighting the pandemic by imposing consequences in the field of international relations and fines,
7. introduction of instruments fighting with „disinformation” by removing all contents which are incompatible with official narrative of WHO via mainstream media,
8. eliminating all alternative methods of treating diseases, different from those recommended by WHO within the agreement.

The above-mentioned concerns, in our opinion, based on the current health and financial situation, open up unlimited opportunities for:

- massive financial fraud,
- giving WHO, a private institution, unlimited power in health matters at the expense of the sovereignty of the signatory countries,
- absolute subordination to WHO decisions with a complete lack of control over the validity and reliability of situation assessment being the basis of the decisions made by WHO
- opportunities of providing unlimited profits for pharmaceutical companies,
- government funding of morally questionable research and medical experiments as well as potential forcing citizens to submit to these experiments,
- forming a new human being and promoting transhumanism,
- introducing total digital control of society under the pretence of fighting for our health,
- introducing unlimited censorship, violation of civil rights, freedom of speech i.e. freedom to express one's views

- combating alternative treatments that are incompatible with WHO narrative and the interests of its donors in the form of pharmaceutical companies

It should be noted that currently Member States contributions cover less than 20% of WHO budget. More than 80% is in the form of voluntary and intentional contributions from public or private donors, mainly foundations and pharmaceutical companies.

Slightly more than 14% of the total WHO budget comes from Bill & Melinda Gates foundation. For a couple of years this foundation has been the greatest private donor and donated $ 2.5 billion to WHO at the turn of the millennium. Only in 2016 and 2017 an annual amount was $ 629 million – most of it was spent on vaccine campaigns.

Bill & Melinda Gates foundation granted WHO US $1.6 billion to help eradicate spreading of poliomyelitis – polio, bringing great profits for pharmaceutical companies and causing a sudden rise of their share prices at the same time. The representatives of these companies sit in the board of Bill & Melinda Gates foundation and thus their stock prices increased as well. The foundation owns blocks of shares in such pharmaceutical groups as GlaxoSmithKline, Novartis, Roche, Sanofi, Gilead and Pfizer.

Almost 6 years ago there was a significant structural change within WHO to the advantage of a private factor. Until then, only non-profit organizations were allowed to participate in WHO working groups and task teams where the most important decisions are made. In May 2016, the decision was made by the WHO General Assembly to allow commercial companies to influence the strategic decisions in its organs.

Under applicable law including the DIRECTIVE 2014/24/EU OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND OF THE COUNCIL of 26 February 2014 and article 24 of this directive “Member States shall ensure that contracting authorities take appropriate measures to effectively prevent, identify and remedy conflicts of interest arising in the conduct of procurement procedures so as to avoid any distortion of competition and to ensure equal treatment of all economic operators”

The concept of a conflict of interest involves each situation, in which staff members of a contracting authority or a procurement service provider acting on behalf of an ordering institution participating in the conduct of procurement procedures or able to influence the outcome of such conduct, have, indirectly or directly, financial, economic or personal interest which could be perceived as a threat to impartiality and independence in relation to the conduct of procurement procedures.

The above-mentioned provisions relate to the eligibility of expenditure under the European Union funds but they can also be applicable in this case.

Regarding the above-mentioned provisions the concept of a conflict of interest should not be examined solely on the grounds of the Guidelines on the eligibility of expenditures under the European Regional Development Fund, the European Social Fund and the Cohesion Fund for the years 2014– 2020 as these guidelines refer solely to personal and capital connections which should be avoided when awarding procurement in particular. The inclusion of the wording ‘in particular’ can also mean that the catalogue of cases of capital and personal connections described in the Guidelines is an open catalogue which means that occurrence of other cases of personal or capital connections as well as the lack of impartiality and objectivity when awarding procurement testifies the occurrence of a conflict of interest.

Analogous provisions can be found in the Commission Notice Guidance on the avoidance and management of conflicts of interest under the Financial Regulation 2021/C 121/01 and Regulation

No 1303/2013 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 17 December 2013 laying down common provisions on the European Funds and repealing Council Regulation (EC) No 1083/2006.

It should be categorically pointed out that WHO, as an entity sponsored by pharmaceutical companies which are producers of vaccines as well as by Bill Gates, the main promoter of vaccination, has allowed commercial companies to influence strategic decisions since May 2016, which is an obvious and real conflict of interest. Therefore, delegating to WHO any competences of Organs of State authority under art. 89 or 90 of the Constitution of the Republic of Poland shall have features of an act classified in article 127 of the Polish Penal Code (conspiracy against the State)

Having considered the above mentioned threats, in accordance with the art. 5 of the Constitution of the Republic of Poland The Republic of Poland shall safeguard the independence and integrity of its territory and ensure the freedoms and rights of persons and citizens, the security of the citizens, safeguard the national heritage and shall ensure the protection of the natural environment pursuant to the principles of sustainable development we call for an immediate filing of the reservation to the content of the Treaty, immediate withdrawal of the power given to conduct negotiations on behalf of the Republic of Poland as well as withdrawal from the World Health Organization.

The social objection in question as at the date of issue of the letter in question was supported by over 50 Associations and 67,355 Citizens of the Republic of Poland.
